

See What Dealers Are Bringing to the 2016 Armory Show

29 February, 2016 | Eileen Kinsella

---

Kwon Young – Woo 'Untitled, 1986' image from Kukje/Tina Kim Gallery

Kukje and Tina Kim Gallery will present paintings by the late Dansaekhwa master Kwon Young-Woo, alongside embroideries and new ceramic sculptures by Egyptian artist Ghada Amer. "A pioneer in the development of Dansaekhwa, Kwon Young-Woo's paintings investigate the limitations of two-dimensional surfaces and explore the relationship between traditional materials and abstract expression. Choosing to use paper as both a ground and as a sculptural medium, Kwon used his fingernails to scratch and tear at the fibers, developing his own highly refined gestural vocabulary," according to a statement from the gallery. Both Kwon Young-Woo and Ghada Amer use unique materials as a medium and canvas (for Kwon its paper, for Ghada its thread), according to a statement from the gallery.

<https://news.artnet.com/market/dealers-bringing-2016-armory-show-435296>